

Forecast For Yorkshire & the Humber
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 16 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:

Morning rain clearing later to warm sunshine. Cold overnight.

Today:

A wet start, with extensive low cloud and spells of rain moving southeast. This should largely clear around lunchtime, to leave a dry remainder of the afternoon with some warm sunshine. Becoming breezier to end the day. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Tonight:

Fine with clear spells into the evening, allowing temperatures to fall away and bringing a risk of slight frost. The cold feel will be accentuated by the brisk northerly wind. Minimum temperature -1 deg C (30 deg F).

Wednesday:

Probably fine throughout, although cooler than recent days, especially to start. Brightest in the west with some fair weather cloud, but periodically rather cloudy in the east. Northerly winds easing. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:

Mainly settled with some brighter spells, but overall becoming cloudier and breezier through this period, with a little rain possible. Mild by day, but with slight overnight frosts in places.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.